PROFILE

Liz Ainsworth has been working as an occupational therapist for over 30 years and she has had at least 25 years' experience recommending home modifications and new construction solutions.

WORKSHOP CONTENT

Workshop one will introduce the role of the OT, the home modification process, models of practice, the relevance and intent of legislation, tools for measuring and drawing, hints and tips for report writing, and information about grabrail prescription. This workshop will suit students, clinicians new to the home modification field, or those wishing to experience a “refresher” in the area.

Workshops two to four will provide practical information about simple and complex home modification solutions to address common barriers. These workshops will suit novice to expert therapists.
